

Gender Conversations

Spring 2008 Schedule

UF Center for Women's Studies & Gender Research

An Open Forum for Research Discussion
Brown Bag Lecture Series

The Gender Conversation Series aims to increase dialogue about gender and sexuality issues in the UF community by creating an informal space for sharing insights drawn from research, activism, and pedagogy, both inside and beyond the university. As the title suggests, presenters should spark discussion about gender and sexuality not only in the university but also in the larger world beyond. Everyone is welcome - local community members as well as UF faculty, staff, and students. So bring your friends, students, classmates, - and a brown bag lunch!
